

Work from Home Survey

New Normal Series

Leesman, the world's leading authority in measuring employee experience, is now measuring the impact of home working

Leesman has mobilized a home working assessment to give immediate feedback on the impact of home working. They have developed a standardized survey that can be completed in 2-4 minutes. It comes with expert survey design and academic rigor, departmental and building level granularity, international benchmarking, independence, 30+ languages, and of course, the highest digital security credentials our clients have come to expect.

As experts in workplace strategy and design, PDR recommends the Leesman Home Working Survey to serve as a foundational data set for our consulting services.

Survey Value

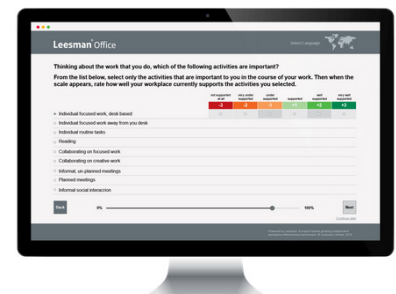

- + Identify which activities are supported and not in home working environments
- + Evaluate current effectiveness of home working for your organization
- + Benchmark your organization with a global data set

PDR Value

- + Recommend strategic interventions for positive impacts now and later
- + Identify which roles can successfully work from home, near term and future term
- + Recommend next steps in real estate planning, workplace strategy, design, and change management

PDR looks forward to partnering with you to deploy the Leesman Home Working Survey, analyze your results, and provide actionable recommendations.

Deployment to results & recommendations in 3-4 weeks.

PDR

To learn more, contact us at NewNormal@pdrcorp.com
Click here to learn more about PDR and here to learn more about Leesman.
Here is a link to try the home working demo survey.